WORK SESSION

Council Questions and Comments:

Mayor Thomas stated he spoke to the State Senate Presidents from all over the country at the Senate Presidents Forum. He attended the Public Art Advisory Board (PAAB) meeting, where they were trained on the Open Public Meeting Act. He attended the Legislative Policy Committee (LPC) meeting at Zions Bank as well as the Rocky Mountain Power (RMP) meeting with Council Member Beerman. He also attended the Utah League of Cities and Towns (ULCT) events this week in Salt Lake City.

Council Member Worel indicated she attended the Board of Health meeting, where an EPA report was given on soil remediation. She went with the Park Silly Sunday Market group to a pig farm to see how compost was recycled on the farm. She attended the Peace House Board meeting and updated the Council that putting purple lights on the McPolin Barn was not going to happen. She noted that on October 4th, there would be a Peace House vigil for domestic violence. She attended the PC Tots meeting and indicated that Aspen Villas was under new management and had reported there were several unlicensed and unsafe home daycares within that complex. The illegal daycares were put on notice that they would be evicted or their leases wouldn't be renewed if they continued to operate. The families with children in the illegal daycares were used to paying $200 per month and couldn't afford to pay more. She felt this would not only impact the children, but the workforce would diminish if parents could not find affordable daycare for their children. PC Advocates met to talk about affordable childcare and what some options might be to resolve this problem. Council Member Worel attended the Arts and Culture retreat, noting the Arts Council was reinventing itself with new goals and priorities. She requested having a work session this fall with the Arts and Culture community – the Arts Council, PAAB, Summit County Public Art Board, and the Arts Initiative to see where everyone is. Jenny Diersen suggested involving the other nonprofits as well. Council Member Worel also expressed her desire to brainstorm in a work meeting to bring the community together in good times instead of only coming together in times of crisis. It was indicated that Council Member Worel and Council Member Henney would work together to bring ideas to a future meeting for discussion.

Council Member Henney commented on the illegal daycares and stated it would be tragic for parents if the daycares were shutdown. He thought these families could feel included as part of the community if a resolution was found for this problem. He indicated he went to the Summit Land Conservancy meeting and the Blue Sky event went well. He attended the Mountainlands Community Housing Board meeting, where they were still working on housing groups in Francis and the Discovery property at the base of Parleys. He attended the Outdoor Recreation group meeting where he listened to people from the Governor's Office on the importance of outdoor recreation. He also noted his surprise that many residents didn't realize that the Council has very little to do with the Treasure Mountain process. He stated he had great confidence in the Planning Commission as the appellate group for this issue.

Council Member Matsumoto stated she supported Council Members Worel and Henney with regard to the struggle with affordable daycare. She stated the goal was to have safe and secure daycares in the community. She thanked staff and the Leadership class for City Tour. She noted that in visiting Aspen, she learned they had dedicated funding for affordable daycare, and she felt it would be good to reach out to other communities to see what they do with regard to affordable childcare for more ideas. She also attended the Special Events Advisory Committee (SEAC), where they discussed prioritizing events in the City.

Council Member Gerber thanked Myles Rademan, staff, and Karen Anderson for organizing City Tour. There was a lot that could be learned from Aspen and the surrounding towns. She attended the ULCT breakout sessions. She attended the Planning Commission meeting and learned about the projects that were proposed for the City. She attended Green Drinks, Park City's new lodging with employee housing above the lodge. She noted there were camps of people living on the hills and that's a concern for the City. She also expressed love and consolation for the loss of the two boys in the community.

Council Member Beerman reiterated that if the daycares were shutdown, the people would be in crisis and solutions needed to be found, even within the City for the short-term if necessary. He stated he enjoyed the City float in the Miner's Day parade. He attended GOED meeting and EDC Utah meeting with Council Member Henney, where they discussed economic development. He indicated City Tour was fantastic. He felt the past few years were timely in learning about these other cities. He attended the ULCT meetings. He also noted that the RMP meeting was good. He also echoed it was a difficult week for the community and he thanked those City staff that helped with that situation.

Mayor Thomas stated losing the two young residents of the community was felt by all and it was staggering. He wanted the families to know our hearts are with them. He thanked the Police Department, School District, the counselors and all who have helped ease the tragedy.

Review Business Friendly Initiative:

John Rock, Executive and Budget Intern, gave an overview of his report. He thanked the Business Friendly Task Force members who helped him in compiling his report. In analyzing different surveys, he noted that consumers appreciated the ability to talk to staff one-on-one. There were two areas of improvement for the City, although he noted the results were from a very small survey sample. One suggestion from the survey was for the City to limit its knee jerk reaction when there was a complaint by a resident because customers wanted stability instead of constant change.

Council Member Matsumoto asked if there were specific examples to the complaints. Rock did not have specifics from the surveys. Council Member Beerman stated there was pushback on the RV code enforcement, so that could be an example. Council Member Matsumoto thought Aspen had a substantial code enforcement staff. Council Member Gerber stated Aspen had a branch of its police department, community safety officers, who did similar things as our code enforcement staff.

Rock noted that ULCT would be awarding four Business Friendly Community Awards, of which Park City would be one recipient.

Recap of 2016 City Tour of Aspen, Roaring Fork Valley and Vernal:

Myles Rademan, Director of Leadership, and Linda Jager, Community Engagement Manager, presented this item. Rademan reviewed that the Leadership group toured Aspen, Breckenridge, Basalt, Carbondale and Vernal, noting that it was dangerous to visit other cities because there were several factors that contributed to the services offered, which makes it hard to compare with Park City. He thought the benefits of City Tour included learning from other cities and to be inspired, getting to know others within the group and also to have fun, which was one of the City's priorities.

Foster stated that from staff perspective, it was important not to overload the tour with a packed itinerary. Rademan stated he tried to pick places that had pertinence to current concerns within the City. He reviewed the information gleaned from the different cities that were visited.

Council Member Henney stated Park City was doing the right things with regard to energy, housing and transportation, which were the focus of all the cities that were visited. Council Member Beerman noted that the new Moab council members were coming here to learn from us so it would be good to pay it forward.

Senior Citizen Programs Update:

Rhoda Stauffer, Affordable Housing Specialist, Paul Wisniewski, Board of Directors, Park City Senior Center, and Heather Nalette, Summit County Senior Programs Coordinator, presented this item. Nalette stated the results from the survey were very good. Seniors indicated they knew where to go to receive services, which was a big improvement from prior years, and they knew how to find transportation for their needs. She reviewed the goals for the working group: keeping the senior webpage updated, having better recreation and exercise programs, and finding solutions to help seniors with yard work and home maintenance.

Wisniewski hoped that more independent assisted living could be made available to seniors, and expressed appreciation to the Council for all they did for seniors.

Council Member Worel asked if housing types were included in the survey. Nalette indicated that most seniors were concerned about bringing someone into their home. She noted that snow was a concern for the seniors - how to navigate it and remove it.

Council Member Matsumoto asked if exercise programs were available for the seniors currently. Nalette stated there was a need for more of these programs at the Senior Center since walking into a gym was intimidating for them.

Council Member Beerman asked if the 1450/1460 Park Avenue housing project could accommodate seniors. Stauffer stated there were some single story units and stated single story units could be expanded to the fire station lot if the Park Avenue housing was successful.

Discuss COSAC Recommendation- Library Field Preservation:

Heinrich Deters, Sustainability, and Jim Doilney, Citizens Open Space Advisory Committee (COSAC) Chairman, presented this item. Deters stated COSAC was present tonight to receive initial direction with regard to the recommendation for a third party preservation easement on the library field. He reviewed the options listed in his staff report, including rezoning the library field as protected open space. Doilney stated he spoke for the consensus of COSAC and not for himself. He noted that Cheryl Fox and Steve Joyce, COSAC members, were here tonight. He read the motion as follows: "We are recommending a third party preservation easement which would restrict development on the property." He didn't know if there were other options besides a land trust, but stated COSAC would like to protect the space to the uses that were currently in place for that property. He indicated COSAC opposed rezoning because people (future Councils) could always change their minds.

Steve Joyce stated zoning was no protection in this case because the legislative body could change it at any time, and thought a preservation easement would be more binding. He gave examples of proposed projects for this space that were presented to an open space friendly Council, and he hoped to take advantage of this opportunity to protect this parcel of land.

Council Member Henney asked if Joyce wanted COSAC to have a bigger role in defining an urban park overlay or what an easement would look like. Joyce stated COSAC had the conversation and as a whole wanted to craft the uses, constraints, and/or what the prohibitions would be with this urban conservation easement if Council determined this was the direction it wanted to proceed. Council Member Henney asked if COSAC got into the third party role there would be a tradeoff of not having a community role. He knew the group wanted to protect the property against development and the political process. Joyce reviewed the COSAC discussions regarding protecting this property. He realized the many needs and demands on the Council, but stated the same pressure existed to protect park space. Council Member Henney asked if COSAC was interested in looking at an urban park overlay easement for this parcel as well as the other parks in town. Doilney stated all these things need to be addressed but he hoped to finish the library field project first.

Council Member Worel thanked COSAC for all their work. She felt this park needed to be preserved but she was not willing to give up community input on future uses for this parcel, giving the example that there may be demand in the future to put a swing set on the field. She hoped to see a comprehensive approach for all the parks. Council Member Gerber agreed and noted she liked the part of the entry corridor resolution that required Council approval and 60% approval by voters before it could be changed, and she thought this would be a good solution for this situation as well. She indicated she was happy to work with COSAC with regard to the field because she wanted the community to be open to new people and new ideas in the future.

Council Member Beerman stated the Council had always been supportive of keeping the field as open space. He indicated he sat through the COSAC process and commended the group for a job well done. He was concerned that most of the alternatives listed in the staff report had not been fully discussed by COSAC, including Option Three-having a public referendum, which he favored, and he suggested that COSAC continue their discussions on all the options. He also hoped that the Recreation Advisory Board (RAB) should be included in the discussion since they were responsible for the City parks. Also, there were other parks that fell into this similar category and they might also be considered for this protection. Other parks mentioned included Creekside, Old Town, City Park, Coalition, Prospector, Miners, etc. He hoped this topic would go back to COSAC for further refinement. He also indicated he would like to see the group come back to Council with something customized and covering more of the City's open spaces.

Council Member Matsumoto thanked those that gave public input. She indicated she didn't object to an easement that would restrict permanent development and hoped COSAC would continue to develop this idea further. She stated she would like to continue allowing the activities on the field and maybe expand the uses for other activities. But she supported no permanent development. Mayor Thomas stated the City needed to protect itself from the future and agreed with Council Member Matsumoto that permanent development should be prohibited.

Council Member Beerman wanted to clarify that it should be defined that no permanent habitable structures should be written into the easement. Council Member Henney stressed the need to define uses for the field, and quoted the entry corridor report from 1995 which specified uses for the field which may not be applicable to current uses.

Staff Communications Reports:

- McPolin Barn Aspen Trees Removal
- Officer Art Boxall - Officer of the Year Award

III. PUBLIC INPUT (ANY MATTER OF CITY BUSINESS NOT SCHEDULED ON THE AGENDA)

Mayor Thomas opened the meeting for public comments.

Ed Parigian stated it was a year since the library field was brought to the Council and the Council stated building would not take place on this property. Parigian submitted a petition for the record with signatures from many in the community who wanted to preserve the library field as open space. He noted that he lived adjacent to the field and felt it was a special place. He spoke with people all over the City and they voiced their support for preserving the space with a third party preservation trust. Parigian stated that in 30, 50 or 100 years from now, the elected officials might be in a different position and could choose to sell the land for development if the trust was not put into place. He opposed walkways, fountains, gazebos, etc. for this field because it was not big enough. He felt a third party trust would protect the field from structures and varying opinions. He thanked Council and staff for their patience while COSAC went through this process. He asked "What is wrong with nothing?"

John Stafsholt stated his family members had been daily users of the library field for the past 25 years. He explained the library field used to be the baseball field next to the high school. He reviewed the history of the property from 1925 to the present. He stated Council would want to be known for what it preserved rather than what it built.

Jim Doilney asked what the Council wanted to do with the field as well as the rest of the open space.

Mayor Thomas closed the public input portion of the meeting.

Council Member Beerman suggested at the next COSAC meeting Deters bring back a map of the City parks and the group could decide which parks should receive protection consideration. Council Member Matsumoto stated these were unique parks. The citizens had supported the preservation of this field and they shouldn't have to wait until all the parks were analyzed, since each park was in a different situation. She asserted that she also supported the idea that the RAB be involved in this process.

Council Member Henney expressed surprise at the sense of urgency with regard to formal action for the library field because there was no proposal for development. The field was going to be a field, so COSAC could continue to study and refine this proposal. All entities wanted to preserve the parcel, so now the process was to find the appropriate tool to preserve it.

Council Member Gerber stated this was a good time for the library field to be discussed but there was time to find the right tool for preserving it.

Mayor Thomas indicated he was in favor of COSAC bringing back a solution for the Council to approve within six months. The Council members agreed to a six month period for further discussion and planning, and returning to the Council with a proposal.

obligation bonds if approved at the bond election on November 8. RESULT: APPROVED

AYES: Council Members Beerman, Gerber, Henney, Matsumoto and Worel

3. Consideration to Approve Resolution 22-2016, a Resolution to Amend Special Event Advisory Committee (SEAC) Adding Members to Advise Council on Hosting Events that Will Create a Diverse and Well Balanced Offering to the Local Community:

Jenny Diersen, Special Events Coordinator, requested adding two stakeholders to the eligible voters on SEAC, namely, the School District and Summit County.

Mayor Thomas opened the public hearing. No comments were given. Mayor Thomas closed the public hearing portion of the meeting.

Council Member Gerber stated she was concerned that the stakeholders had reason to benefit from the decisions made within the committee. It was indicated that there were only four community members in the group and they felt outnumbered. Council Member Beerman agreed and felt the businesses should consolidate and pick a representative, and more at-large members should be selected.

Council Member Matsumoto stated she was on the board and didn't feel that there were any decisions made that were self-interested. She also asserted the School District and County were not self-interested and should be voting members on this board. She suggested the group meet monthly instead of quarterly. Mayor Thomas stated the reason the committee was formed was to evaluate the events and restrain them in some cases. He agreed with Council Member Beerman's suggestion.

Council Member Beerman indicated the proposed resolution did not accomplish what was in the best interest for the community members since the business representatives far outnumbered the community members. The power of the committee was in the citizen's agenda. Council Member Matsumoto explained some of the scoring discussions for special events in the meetings, and noted there was still a lot of education going on within the committee.

Council Member Gerber thought there was a good argument for having more community members since different members of the community were drawn to different events. Council Members Worel and Henney agreed with having more community members on the board as well.

Diersen said that the board was set up to meet quarterly but she recommended that it be changed to a monthly meeting. She further asked that Deer Valley, Vail and Mountain Trails Foundation stay on the committee since they were essential for making the events work. Further discussion ensued with regard to the committee makeup.

Harrington noted that there was an expectation and prior commitment given to the School District and Summit County. He suggested the Council consider following through by approving this resolution tonight, but give direction for the group to meet more often and expand its representation from community members. The Council decided to discuss it further next week. Council Member Gerber stated she was fine with including the School Board and the County as voting members as long as more community members were added as well.

Council Member Beerman noted he was in favor of including the School District and County but wanted to restructure the committee.

Council Member Beerman moved to continue Resolution 22-2016, a resolution to amend Special Event Advisory Committee adding members to advise council on hosting events that will create a diverse and well balanced offering to the local community. Council Member Gerber seconded the motion.

4. Review the Level Three Special Event Permit, Conduct a Public Hearing, and Approve the Permit for Park City Shot Ski and Approve a Fee Reduction Not to Exceed $2,800.00 in the Related City Service Fees, as Conditioned, on the Following Date: Saturday, October 22, 2016:

Tommy Youngblood, Special Events, and Lauren Boyack from Park City Brewery presented this item. Youngblood indicated this was the 30th anniversary of Wasatch Brewery and they wanted to break a record for holding the longest shot ski event. This event would be on Main Street from Heber Avenue to Swede Alley. He recommended that Council approve half of the requested fee waiver. Boyack stated she requested the full waiver, noting the proceeds would go to Sunrise Rotary.

Council Member Worel stated since the City fully waived the fees for Miner's Day for the Noon Rotary, it should waive the fees for all Rotary Clubs. Diersen stated $11,400 was waived for the Sunrise Rotary for the July 4th event.

Council Member Gerber stated it was a tricky position for many events to request fee waivers because they were tied to nonprofits, but those fees supported police, staff, etc. She did not support this request. Council Member Beerman agreed. Boyack stated the brewery would not make a profit.

Bill Jacobson stated he was a member of the Sunrise Rotary. The applicant was donating the fee waiver to the rotary. Those funds would help the rotary members buy presents for the less fortunate children in the community. That was just one example of what the money would be used for.

Council Member Henney moved to approve the Level Three Special Event Permit, and approve the permit for Park City Shot Ski and approve a full fee reduction except for Police fees in the amount of $2,250 as conditioned, on Saturday, October 22, 2016. Council Member Gerber seconded the motion.

5. Consideration of Ordinance 2016-44, an Ordinance Approving Amendments to the Land Management Code of Park City, Utah Regarding the Following Chapters: Chapter 1-General Provisions and Procedures; Chapter 2- Zoning Designations (2.1 HRL, 2.2 HR-1, 2.3 HR-2, 2.4 HRM, 2.5 HRC, 2.6 HCB, 2.7 ROS, 2.8 POS, 2.9 E-40, 2.10 E, 2.11 SF, 2.12 R-1, 2.13 RD, 2.14 RDM, 2.15 RM, 2.16 RC, 2.17 RCO, 2.18 GC, 2.19 LI, 2.22 PUT, 2.23 CT); Chapter 6- Master Planned Development Requiring Inventory and Report on Mine Sites for MPD Applications, Chapter 7-Effect of Vacation, Alteration, or Amendment of Plats; Procedures, Requirements and Review of Plat Amendments, Chapter 7.1-Modifications to Public Improvements Required for a Subdivision, Chapter 11-Historic Preservation Criteria for Designating Sites and Chapter 15-Definitions:

Kirsten Whetstone, Senior Planner, presented this item. She indicated she would be happy to answer any questions and noted the Planning Commission forwarded a positive recommendation. Council Member Gerber explained the process of getting these amendments approved by the Planning Commissioners.

Council Member Worel asked if there was an advantage to being a valid complying structure and a legal noncomplying structure with regard to historic structures. Whetstone stated if that was the way it was built and it was legal under the code at the time then it would cut out some of the process time.

Council Member Beerman asked if it was always possible to require that goods needed to be loaded/unloaded entirely onsite as stated on Page 207 of the packet. Whetstone stated that language was not included for all zones

Harrington noted the language on Page 141 of the packet, in Section 15.6.6 and suggested using the word mitigates instead of preserves. Harrington recommended putting the obligation onto the applicant. Bruce Erickson stated the City may want to excise just that section because some reports prepared for the sites recommend the site not be put on the listing. He indicated the paragraph could also be changed to say that the historic sites are managed according to the approved historic preservation plan. After some discussion the Section was amended to say,

(O) The MPD, as conditioned, addresses Historic Structures and Sites on the Property, according to accepted City regulations and policies, and any applicable Historic Preservation Plan.

Council Member Worel asked what a City Council call up meant. Whetstone explained if an appeal was requested, the City would give seven days' notice.

Mayor Thomas opened the public hearing. No comments were given. Mayor Thomas closed the public hearing portion of the meeting.

Council Member Henney moved to approve Ordinance 2016-44, an ordinance approving amendments to the Land Management Code of Park City, Utah regarding the following chapters: Chapter 1-General Provisions and Procedures; Chapter 2- Zoning Designations (2.1 HRL, 2.2 HR-1, 2.3 HR-2, 2.4 HRM, 2.5 HRC, 2.6 HCB, 2.7 ROS, 2.8 POS, 2.9 E-40, 2.10 E, 2.11 SF, 2.12 R-1, 2.13 RD, 2.14 RDM, 2.15 RM, 2.16 RC, 2.17 RCO, 2.18 GC, 2.19 LI, 2.22 PUT, 2.23 CT); Chapter 6- Master Planned Development Requiring Inventory and Report on Mine Sites for MPD Applications, Chapter 7-Effect of Vacation, Alteration, or Amendment of Plats; Procedures, Requirements and Review of Plat Amendments, Chapter 7.1-Modifications to Public Improvements Required for a Subdivision, Chapter 11-Historic Preservation Criteria for Designating Sites and Chapter 15-Definitions with the above described amendment and approved by the City Attorney. Council Member Worel seconded the motion.

The following item was removed from the Consent Agenda and was discussed during the Regular Business portion of the meeting:

Request to Approve the New Interlocal Agreement for the Central Wasatch Commission (Formerly Known as Mountain Accord):

Council Member Beerman showed a PowerPoint and reviewed that in July, 2015, the Mountain Accord was signed. In order to move the principles forward, a board needed to be formed. A commission was formed with four organizing members, comprised of Salt Lake City, Salt Lake County, Cottonwood Heights and Sandy. There were also two appointed members – a Wasatch Back member and a UDOT member. Council Member Beerman was appointed as the Wasatch Back member. Council Member Beerman indicated the Commission would meet bimonthly.

Council Member Beerman indicated the Commission leased a building at the base of Big Cottonwood Canyon, an audit had been performed to close out the Accord, they would be working on an environmental dashboard, they approved a Parleys/I-80 Transportation study, approved a Cottonwood Transportation study, as well as connecting trails and shifts in bus routes.

Council Member Worel asked if the funds would be transferred over to the Commission. Council Member Beerman stated those funds would be transferred from different entities to the Commission.

Council Member Beerman also discussed the Central Wasatch National Conservation and Recreation Area Act, sponsored by Rep. Chaffetz. This act would prohibit new roads, chair lifts, or anything allowed in the wilderness areas. He noted the monitor bowls in Summit County had been pulled out of the act by Rep. Bishop. This land was in the County and the City supported it.

Council Member Worel moved to approve the new Interlocal Agreement for the Central Wasatch Commission (formerly known as Mountain Accord). Council Member Matsumoto seconded the motion.
